Sedgwick County Hazards Analysis Plan Recently Revised

(Sedgwick County, Kansas) -- The Sedgwick County Hazards Analysis Plan has recently been revised and expanded to identify potential hazards facing a community. Categories of hazards identified include natural, technological and national security. The plan follows a three step decision making process and is designed to consider all potential hazards within the planning district. Further, the plan identifies which hazards are of high priority and should be addressed in the emergency planning process. Portions of the plan assist private and public organizations in regards to continuity and emergency planning through hazard identification, vulnerability analysis, and risk assessments.
